NEW YORK, April 23

The Tribune's special Washington despatch says:

The amount of fractional currency issued last week was $256,000. The amount held as security for National Bank circulation $320,000,000, and for deposits in designated depositories $360,000,000. $1,524,600 of National Bank notes were issued last week. During last week certificates of indebtedness amounting to $69,000 were issued. Fractional currency amounting to $316,000 was redeemed last week. The disbursements of the Treasury last week were as follows:

War Department,	$9 893,000
Navy Department,	1,200 000
Interior Department,	171,000

NEW YORK, Apr 23

The Tribune's special Washington despatch says:

The Judiciary Committee have agreed to report against any modification of the test oath.

General Grant has issued a general order to General Foster to protect Union citizens of Florida.

It is reported that the President will soon issue a proclamation, fixing the 17th of May as a National Fast day, in view of the coming cholera.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21

The Chamber of Commerce has adopted and telegraphed to the California delegation in Congress, resolutions requesting under a suspension of rules, the passage of an act making it a felony to transport nitro glycerine within the United States on American vessels.

The California, Oregon and Mexican Steamship Company will inaugurate a line of steamers between San Francisco and the mouth of the Colorado river on the 15th of May.

The Coroner's jury in the inquest held on the bodies of Samuel Knight, and ten others killed in the late explosion—found that the deaths were caused by the explosion of nitro glycerine contained in a wooden box which arrived in the steamer Savannah on the 13th inst., addressed to W. H. Mills, Los Angeles, and that no mark indicated its character.

The jury expressed the opinion that the shippers are guilty of manslaughter and should be prosecuted. They acquit the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. and Wells, Fargo & Co.

OSWEGO, N. Y., April 23

Three cases of Fenian muskets were seized by order of the department of the East in this city yesterday forenoon. Further search is in progress. The Fenians are greatly excited about the seizure.

NEW YORK, April 23

The Commercial says—

The stock market is active, with a general advance. There is more of a clique movement, and the tone of affairs indicate an advance, should the condition of the money market prove favorable. At board, prices advanced ¾ a 2¼, but after the session part of the advance was lost.

Governments are very active and firm; sixes of 1881 rose ⅜—100¼—5 20 of 1862 ¼—7 3-10, second series, ½—and one year certificates ½, closing at 100½.

Money continues very abundant. It is found difficult to employ all the balances at 5 per cent and round sums are offered for temporary use at 4 per cent.

The prevailing rate on call loans is 5 per cent. Prime commercial paper in active demand. Choice 6 a 6½. Gold firm but in less demand from importers than last week. There is less demand for loans, the rate being 3 32 to 1 8 per cent a day. Freight Exchange dull. The bank returns for the past week indicate a decline in business activity, a reduction of $1,642,786 in loans and discounts, and an increase of $3,605 109 in deposits, with a similar increase of legal tenders. The exhibit however, is in favor of a continuance of speculative operations—Specie shows the heavy decrease of $1,539,-666, an indication of the scarcity of gold being predicted by the current large demand for custom duties.

THE APPROACHING EUROPEAN WAR.—Notwithstanding the assurances of the Vienna press that Austria is not arming, the advices from Paris and other political centres, by the Persia last night, show that there is a prodigious massing of troops near the old battle grounds of the former wars between the two German Powers. But unlike the slow concentration of forces in the times of Frederick the Great and Maria Theresa, the present movement is by steam. Every train to Silesia and Bohemia is crowded with the white coats of the Austrian infantry; all night long the heavy freight trains burdened with cannon and shell and shot and all the furniture of war rumble over the roads connecting Vienna with the North.

The splendid Imperial Hussars have begun also their northward march. Forty thousand men are already concentrated on the borders of Saxony.

A strategical point which Austria never possessed in the struggle with Frederick, and of immense importance to her—the city of Cracow—is being fortified and heavily garrisoned. Formidable garrisons are being collected at the old historical points of Silesia, so famous in the wars of the eighteenth century. Even as in our civil war, so many battles were fought over again at certain fixed and necessary strategical positions, so no doubt, if war result, we shall hear of battles between Prince Charles and Gen Benedek on fields which are immortal with the names of Frederick and his Generals.

It shows the grandeur of the approaching conflict, as well as the danger of Austria, that armies are moving at the same time from Austria proper toward the Lower Danube, Eastern Silesia, Bohemia, and the Adriatic.

Dangers from Russia, Italy and Hungary must be guarded against as well as the great attack from Prussia. The latter power is now without doubt preparing for the field. Three corps are already spoken of as under arms, and probably more can be immediately put in marching order. It must be remembered that Prussia has an almost perfect military organization, and can summon with the greatest rapidity a vast army to the field. Her Government has sent forth a circular to the lesser Powers of Germany, which shows the seriousness of the position. She demands to know categorically what their course will be in case of attack by Austria on the Prussian territory, and proclaims that in this struggle "there can be no neutrality in Germany." When it is remembered that Bavaria, Wurtemberg, Saxony and other minor German States can put 500,000 men in the field, the importance of this demand and of its answer will be seen. The final and dreaded conflict between the two powers seems for the moment delayed for the reply to this diplomatic question, and in the meantime the great Powers, France and England, are having an opportunity to intervene and to propose a compromise. England has no weight in Germany, but France, with 600,000 men to throw into one scale or the other, will have to be listened to. A compromise is already suggested in the journals—an exchange of a portion of Prussian Silesia to Austria for the Duchies, which Prussia is seeking to annex; but in the present temper both of the Prussian Cabinet and people it is doubtful if such an offer even supposing it to be made would ever be entertained.—[N. Y. Times.

THE ENORMOUS PRICE OF UNIMPROVED PROPERTY IN NEW YORK. Some idea of the rise in price of unimproved property in New York may be gathered from the report of a recent great up town sale. A lot on Eighth avenue and Seventy second street, 25 feet 8 inches by 100 feet, sold for the enormous sum of $18 800. On the adjoining cross streets, lots readily went off at five, six and seven thousand dollars, with little available grading no drainage, no building improvements, and situated nearly six miles from the City Hall. This sort of thing (says the N. Times) may last for a time, but a similar rage for real estate speculation has often before brought ruin in its path—not, however, to the original owner, who usually gets the fair value of his property in his first installment.

TUESDAY, APRIL 24, 1866.

Letter from Gen. Chamberlain.

The following letter (referred to in our paper a day or two since) is published in the Eastport Sentinel by Gen. C. H. Smith, to whom it was addressed by General J. L. Chamberlain.

The political position of the writer—he having been prominently named as a candidate for the Gubernatorial nomination of the Republican party—makes the letter of general interest, and we therefore transfer it to our columns. The general tone of the letter, it will be seen, is entirely unexceptionable in regard to the present political issues. He says, emphatically, "It seems little else than absolute madness to hasten to re-invest with political power the very men who precipitated upon us the horrors of civil war, and little less than cowardly wickedness to turn our backs upon the millions whose humble and despised condition did not prevent them from befriending the country, when it was most in need of friends." And yet as he says, "this very madness and wickedness constitute to-day the main features of a policy urged upon the country with the full strength of a party which opposed the war against rebellion"—meaning the northern copperheads.

This policy whose main features, as he says, are, "madness and wickedness" is the policy of President Johnson, supported and "urged upon the country" by the entire "democratic" party of to-day, embracing the copperheads. Of course, after so emphatic a denunciation as the above, from Gen. Chamberlain, no supporter of President Johnson's policy can support him as a candidate for Governor. In the following portions of his letter it will be seen that he unequivocally endorses the position and action of Congress upon the question of reconstruction. The following is the General's letter in full:

BRUNSWICK, April 12, 1866.

My Dear General:

I share with you most fully the solicitude expressed in regard to the present posture of our national affairs. One year ago this very day, you and I were present at the surrender of the proudest army of the rebellion, when the banners of secession went down before the broad ensign of the Republic, the prestige of the National Government was vindicated and restored, its power made invincible by victory, its authority acknowledged and the greatness of its future in the triumph of Republican principles apparently as well assured as if it had been vouchsafed by a Divine decree.

But in the twelve months that has since elapsed, that promise has not seemed in a fair way to be fulfilled; that progress has not been made which we had so fondly hoped, in realizing the benefits of our dearl bought victory. We fought for that "more perfect Union," which the Constitution announced as its object; we fought for the completion of those great ideas which inspired the souls of our fathers; for the extirpation of that fatal Calhoun heresy which would destroy the very existence of our Nationality, and in defence of a united and indivisible country. We fought for liberty, in its widest and best sense. In the language of an early Congress, "the rights for which we contended were the rights of human nature."

If we fail in attaining these ends then was the blood of our heroes poured out in vain, and our treasure worse than wasted — If this war has taught any one lesson more imperatively than another, it is that we should be slow to trust those who have been disloyal to the country, and that we should do justice to those who stood by her in the hour of danger and trial. It seems little else than absolute madness to hasten to re-invest with political power the very men who precipitated upon us the horrors of civil war; and little else than cowardly wickedness to turn our backs upon the millions whose humble and despised condition did not prevent them from befriending the country when it was most in need of friends, and yet this very madness and this very wickedness constitute to-day the main feature of a policy urged upon the country with the full strength of the party which, pretending to oppose the war during its continuance, did in reality encourage and prolong it by moral support, and now that the war is ended in a triumph, so contrary to their predictions, seeks to rob that victory of the fruits we had supposed secure.

I know not how politicians may view this question. I am not in political circles, I have no hand in making platforms, nor am I skilled in party or partizan devices. But I know with unerring instinct how the soldiers who fought the battles feel upon this issue, and how the great popular heart of Maine, always patriotic, always true, will respond. The soldiers and the people as one, will demand that their mutual efforts and mutual sacrifices shall not have been in vain. They demand that traitors, whether pardoned or unpardoned, shall not be clothed with political power; they demand that no injurious discrimination shall be made against any men who participated in the struggle for the preservation of the country. Political power must be impartially enjoyed by loyal men, and by loyal men alone.

All must unite in demanding security for the future. Indemnity for the past we cannot obtain. The treasure expended in the war is gone, and the grave cannot give back its dead. We must not repine over the past, nor be disheartened at the inevitable; but we shall be most recreant to duty if we fail to provide wisely for the future. Secession must be repudiated with its debts and claims, its spirit and principle. We must have guaranties good and sufficient against any future attempt to destroy this Government, whether in the exercise of a pretended right by open war, or by the more artful and insidious assaults against the principles on which this Nation was founded. These are points we cannot yield without danger and dishonor; and when the Southern States shall have complied with these conditions in good faith, they will be in a position to ask association and fellowship with the loyal commonwealths of the country which they deserted with such violence and scorn. Until that time in my judgment, it is wise to hold them in strict probation.

In demanding these guaranties we ask nothing humiliating to those states—nothing which is not dictated by justice, and most accordant with honor. To-day we have the power to enforce these guaranties, if we are resolute and true. If we falter and fail, we show ourselves less potent in council than on the bloody deck and field. The high position taken by our congressional delegation on all the great questions growing out of the rebellion, should be, and I make no doubt will be, fully supported by the loyal men of Maine, who in the darkest hour of the conflict did not forsake their cause. We must not lower this standard an inch, nor suffer it to be lowered by others. The struggle may still be severe but we have faith in the right; for the hearts of the people are in this cause, and they will stand by the flag till there shall be no doubt of its integrity or its meaning—till triumphant through blood and tears, it shall be recognized as the emblem of what is dear to humanity and right before God.

Pardon the length of this letter to which the importance of the topics suggested has led me, and believe me as ever, your friend and servant J. L. CHAMBERLAIN

To Maj. Gen. C. H. Smith, Eastport.

THE PRESIDENT'S SPEECH OF WEDNESDAY LAST. In commenting upon this speech we had but the copy which was first sent. We find in the later copies the most offensive expression used is differently rendered. The passage in which it occurs is as follows:

And now I want to know why it is that the whole train of slanderers, calumniators and traducers have been barking and snapping at my heels. Why is that they array themselves against me? Is it because I stand on the side of the people?—and when I say 'the people' I include the soldiers and sailors. Why is it that they are arrayed in traducing and vilifying and calumniating me? Where were they during the rebellion? (A voice—at home and in bed.) In the Senate I raised my voice against it, and when it was believed that it would be the interest of the nation and would assist in putting down the rebellion, did I not leave my place in the Senate, a place of ease, emolument and distinction, and take my position where the enemy could be reached, and where men's lives were in danger? While I was thus exposed, personally and publicly, and in every way, some of my present traducers and calumniators were far removed from the fire, and were enjoying ease and comfort. But I care not for them. I care not that slander, the foul whelp of sin, has been turned loose against me. I care not for all that; and let me tell you here to-day, that, although pretty well advanced in life, I feel that I shall live long enough to live down the whole pack of traducers and slanderers. They have turned the whole pack loose to lower me in your estimation. Tray, Blanche and Sweetheart, little dogs and all, come along snapping and snarling at my heels; but I heed them not.

New Publications.

HARPER'S MONTHLY for May, which we receive from Bugbee & Co., and A. Williams & Son, Boston, contains among other valuable and interesting articles, an illustrated description of Galena and its Lead Mines, embracing a brief account of Lieut.-General Grant's earlier history as a resident of that place. Also, very interesting illustrated articles upon the famous Yosemite Valley, California, and Livingstone's last African Expedition. There is the usual full amount of literary and political matter — Harper has become not only a welcome and profitable visitor everywhere, but almost indispensable to the reading public.

HOURS AT HOME. The May number of this popular journal of religious and useful literature is also received from Messrs. Bugbee & Co., and will be found of more than usual interest and value. Among the leading articles is a scientific one upon the "Age of Man", and another upon "The Lessons of the United States to Europe", by Laboulaye. The magazine has a good variety of religious and other miscellany, and we believe is gaining a good foothold beside the other monthlies. It is published by Scribner & Co., New York, at $3 single copies; clubs at less rates.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK FOR MAY is elegant as usual in its illustrations, and unsurpassable in its artistic elements, as a magazine of fashion and of useful information in the various departments of feminine life and industry. The double page colored fashion plate is a gem of art, and the fashions themselves will be voted "sweet", we suppose, by all the sweet creatures who are on the look-out for spring and summer styles.

THE CAMPAIGNS OF THE SEVENTEENTH MAINE, by Edwin B. Houghton, a member of the regiment, published by Short & Loring, Portland, appears upon our table—received from Bugbee & Co. The author modestly detracts from his own literary ability, it being his only attempt at book-making. It is really a well-written volume, and, being constructed upon the basis of an actual diary of the events and adventures of every day's service and experiences of the gallant Seventeenth, it constitutes a valuable contribution to the history of the war — The author's companions-in-arms have reason to thank him for his services as their chronicler.

THE BOYS AT DR. MURRAY'S—A Story of School Life, by Glance Gaylord, is the title of a new book just published by Graves & Young, Boston, and for sale here by E. F. Duren. The story looks as if it might be well written and interesting, but as the publishers have sent us an imperfect copy for notice, we have not attempted to read it.

STEAMER STATE OF MAINE ASHORE IN THE SOUND. The New York Times of Friday says that on Thursday night, when within three miles of New London, the steamer State of Maine ran on the rocks at Eastern Point, going on, however, so easily, that even the passengers on board knew nothing of the fact until after she had laid there nearly an hour. The rock at the place where she struck is quite shelving, and apparently no great damage was received. After laying there about two hours, the steam ferry-boat plying across the river from New London pulled the steamer off, and she landed her eastward bound passengers at New London. On examination, Capt. Borden found the steamer was leaking slightly, from the fact that her forefoot was split about three feet below the water line. Canvas was placed over the leak outwardly, and other measures taken to prevent any further leakage. While lying at her dock during the day Friday, the leak was hardly perceptible. So slight indeed did it appear, that Capt. Borden did not think it necessary to take any further steps at repairing until after he arrived at New York.

After being out an hour from New London it was found that the steamer was making water considerably, and the steam pumps were put at work. Some eighteen inches of water in the hold.

The steamer then laid to until the Old Colony came up, and her 150 passengers were transferred.

The cattle disease, which has appeared in Panama, if not the European Rinderpest itself, seems fatal enough as an epidemic to justify every caution on the part of the government. Quite in time, we are fortunately provided with a law against the importation of neat cattle; and Secretary McCulloch has enjoined all Customs officers not to admit hides until fully satisfied that they are free from disease.

The last sensation story from Washington is the rumor of a proposed duel between two distinguished Senators. The difficulty is said to have occurred outside the Senate Chamber. The challenged party is in no need of proving his courage by accepting an invitation to face a pistol at twelve paces, and it is hoped the difficulty will be arranged without any such foolish exhibition.—[Tribune.

SIGNOR BORRA

Respectfully informs his former pupils and the public in general of this city and vicinity, that he has just returned from New York, and that he desires to re-open his Vocal Academy at as early a day as possible. If he can commence immediately, the pupils will have the opportunity of receiving five terms, and he will enable them to perform an Italian Opera at the end of the season, provided one hundred pupils be obtained to begin with. These require several good 1st and 2d Sopranos, 1st and 2d Contraltos, 1st and 2d Tenors, Baritones, Basses, &c. These pupils will be able at the end of this season to teach, to sing on a Quartette Choir in New York, or in any other city, and command the best wages.

N. B.—Classes should commence immediately, if they wish to make the best use of this rare opportunity. The Chevé System is the one in use at the Conservatoire of Paris, and other European Schools of the highest rank. The citizens of Bangor have never had presented to them so favorable advantages for the thorough study of Music as a Science and an Art.

Pupils will please hand their names to SIGNOR BORRA, at Spencer's Hall, this week, that classes may commence without delay, and to afford him sufficient time to introduce an Opera—the only kind of music that will elevate the taste of the citizens of Bangor higher than Portland.

SIGNOR BORRA began to classify his pupils Monday, April 23d, from 9 to 12 A. M., and from 2 to 5 o'clock P. M., every day. april 24 sn

HUMOR DOCTOR.

This excellent medicinal remedy was first prepared by Dr. P. in 1847, and was then employed with great success in expelling humors from the blood; but in 1848, a medical friend, who was quite celebrated as a physician, especially in the treatment of humors, suggested some important improvements, which were adopted, and which have made it (as the people say) the very best remedy for all kinds of humors known to "the faculty." This preparation is composed wholly of vegetables, among which are Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock, Burdock, Noble Pine, Mandrake, Senna and Bloodroot. Suffice it to say, the "Doctor" is used in hundreds of families as a general medicine. Unlike many other popular remedies, it is very grateful to the taste.

Our Minister at Vienna to Protest Against Sending more Austrian Troops to Mexico.

Seizure of Arms for the Fenians in Oswego, N. Y.

Later from Mexico.

The Defeat of the French near Mazatlan Confirmed.

NEW YORK, April 23.

The Commercial's Washington despatch

The Reconstruction Committee took no action this forenoon and adjourned.

The Post's special Washington despatch

The Committee on Ways and Means expect to report the tax bill to-morrow. The tax on cotton remains 5 cents, and on whiskey two dollars.

NEW YORK, April 23.

The Post's special Washington despatch

Mr Seward has sent stringent instructions to our Vienna Minister in reference to the project of sending Austrian troops to the aid of Maximilian, and a strong protest against such action will be made.

WASHINGTON, April 23.

It will be remembered that after the surrender of Gen. Lee the military in Georgia captured $100,000 in gold, which was claimed by the farmers and exchange banks of Virginia at Richmond. Recent investigations show that a few weeks before the evacuation of Richmond the legislature of Virginia passed a law authorizing said banks to loan the confederate government upon the faith of the State $300,000 in gold to purchase supplies for Lee's army. This loan was placed by the respective banks to the credit of the rebel government, and before the surrender of Lee $60,000 was paid, leaving $240,000 belonging to the rebel government with these banks at the time of the evacuation. The government therefore claims not only the $100,000 captured in Georgia, but also the $140,000 additional in the custody of the banks. This is the present condition of the question. The notes of these banks have been bought up with the expectation that the government would relinquish its title to the $240,000 in gold.

WASHINGTON April 23.

A communication was sent to the House today from the War Department respecting the collection of remains of Union officers and soldiers killed and buried on various battle fields.

The Quartermaster General says he has reported the interment of nearly 100,000, a large portion of whom it will be necessary to remove to cemeteries. One million dollars will be required to protect them from desecration, and it is recommended that a general system be adopted.

Gen Thomas has issued an order warning people against ploughing under or disturbing the graves of our dead at Atlanta.

NEW YORKApril 23.

Health Officer Bissell reports from the hospital ship Falcon last evening, that since his last report ten deaths had occurred on board that ship from cholera. Twenty new cases were received on board from the Virginia. There are 73 cases of cholera now on board the hospital ships.

CALAIS, Me., April 23.

Two supposed Fenians, while crossing the bridge to St. Stephens this afternoon, were turned back, being refused passage. One of them drew a revolver and fired one barrel without injuring any one. Both were arrested at Calais end of the bridge, and afterwards were handed over to the civil authorities. The affair has caused considerable excitement on both sides of the river.

NEW YORK, April 23.

The U S steamer Augusta from Washington has arrived.

An Oswego, N. Y., special despatch to the Times states that 140 Springfield rifles destined for the use of the Fenians were seized last night. It has been ascertained that 900 have been sent here, but only three cases have been received. Two hundred guns were distributed among the Fenians last week.

It is said that the arms were destined to be used in a Fenian expedition up the Bay of Quinte, by means of sailing crafts and steam tugs, having for its object the capture of Picton and Bellville, and the raising of the green flag in a situation almost impregnable against assaults by land and water. The Galloo Islands in Lake Ontario, uninhabited, are stated to have been pitched upon as the place of rendezvous and base of supplies. Expeditions were to move simultaneous from other place on the frontier. These rumors are given for what they are worth

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 23.

Lake navigation is open here. Canal navigation opens May 1st.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.

A letter from Lopas, Arizona, dated 13th of April, announces that Major Miller, of the 14th U. S. Infantry, and four men, were killed while going from Fort Grant to Tuscan. After the murder, a company of Marposos and Pinos went in pursuit of the Apaches, killing 25 and capturing others.

Major General Rosecrans arrived at San Diego March 14. The citizens gave him the freedom of the place, fired 100 guns and delivered an address, to which the General responded.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.

FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, April 23.

Senate.

The bill regulating commerce between States was made a special order for Friday next.

The bill to increase the facilities for postal and railroad communication between the States was made the special order for Friday.

The Senate passed the bill for better organization of the pay department of the Navy with amendment, and it goes to the House for concurrence.

The Post Office bill was then considered, but took no action.

The Senate then went into executive session.

Adjourned.

House.

A resolution was introduced and adopted that the District of Columbia committee inquire into the expediency of adopting the eight hour system of labor.

A resolution was offered instructing the Committee on Public Expenditures to investigate the alleged compromises of frauds on the Revenue Custom House, Boston.—Laid over until Monday next.

A resolution was adopted that the Committee on Commerce inquire and report what measures are necessary to insure safety in the transportation or storage of combustable substances.

A resolution was adopted instructing the Agricultuoal Committee to inquire into the money value of seeds and plants disturbed; whether they could not be procured from gardeners of our own country, and what steps were necessary to increase the efficiency of the Agricultural Department.

The judiciary committee reported adversely on the proposition of the President to modify the test oath ordered to be printed.

A joint resolution was passed authorizing the President to take such measures as he deems proper to prevent the introduction of cholera or other infectious diseases into this country.

The bill reorganizing the army was taken up, the question being on the amendment to the section relative to the Quartermaster's Department.

Considerable debate ensued which was finally closed by the previous question on the section and the pending amendment.

Mr Schenck's amendment to the substitute was adopted, when the substitute was rejected.

The 18th section as well as the two following were allowed to stand as reported from the committee.

The 19th section relating to the Subsistance Department being up, Mr. Woodbridge moved to substitute the corresponding section of the Senate bill.

Mr Woodbridge made some remarks in defence of West Point Academy.

Mr Schenck disclaimed for the committee any reflection on that institution.

After further debate no action being taken, the bill was laid aside.

A resolution was adopted calling on the Secretary of War for the report of General Smyth and Jas. T. Brady of their investigations at New Orleans.

Mr. Elliott gave notice that he would move for action on the river and harbor bill next Monday.

A message was received from the President transmitting a report from the Secretary of War respecting the collections of the remains of our officers and soldiers killed and buried on the battle fields about Atlanta. Referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

A message was also received from the President transmitting the diplomatic correspondence in reference to the proposed evacuation of Mexico by the French troops. Referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr Miller introduced a bill to allow the U. S. Revenue Assessors to appoint deputies. Referred.

Adjourned.

Monday, April 23.

ON TRIAL.

Samuel Tainter vs. James A. Loveland. Replevin for wagon and harness. Defendant claims under a purchase from Piff's son.—Deft denies his son's right to sell.

Paine. Peters.

CHANGE OF TIME. The Lady Lang runs three times a week, starting from here at 5 o'clock in the morning.

—Thanks to S. Berry, Esq., Portland, agent of the Associated Press, for English papers by late steamers.

TO BE REPEATED. At the earnest solicitation of a large number of citizens, we understand that Mr. A. L. Spencer has consented to repeat the exhibition ball given by his juvenile classes. Many who attended the former exhibition, pronounce it superior to any ever before given in the city. His pupils showed remarkable proficiency in the art, and were tastefully and elegantly dressed, especially some of the smaller ones. The general expression that it ought to be repeated, is the strongest testimony of its popularity. Mr. Spencer will spare no pains to make this exhibition fully as the one previously given.

REAL ESTATE SALES. On Saturday last, R. S. Prescott sold at auction the house and large lot on Ohio street, for $1880, Albert Noyes, Esq., was purchaser. At private sale, last week, the building and water power, also the foundry lot and water power, the property of Samuel B. Hinckley, at Drummond's Mills, was sold to E. O. Pendleton, for $3000. We understand Mr. Pendleton proposes to use this purchase in connection with his former property at that place, in commencing the manufacture of woolen goods, as soon as the spindles and looms for that purpose can be put in operation.

ACCIDENT. John J. Russell, of Baring, was killed on Saturday last on the Calais & Baring Railroad. He was run over by a loaded car.

—Jones O. Haycock of Calais, has been appointed Custom House Inspector.

—The Lewiston Journal says that Messrs. Hathorn, Maxfield & Co. are to commence the present season the construction of a stone dam across the Sebasticook at Pittsfield.—The dam will consist of two sections, one to be built this season and one the next season. The first section is to be about 150 feet long; the second about 125 feet.

A NEW SLATE QUARRY. The Waterville Mail mentions a slate quarry now being opened in the town of Winslow, and says the quality proves to be equal to the best slate in the market, and that there is reason to suppose the quantity to be abundant. The quarry is located only a few rods from the railroad, and great confidence is felt in the success of the "Sebasticook Slate Company," which has lately been organized.

A CASE OF CONSCIENCE. The Oxford Democrat says a witness who appeared before the Grand Jury at the last March term, and was duly paid for his attendance, has returned to the Treasurer the amount of his fee. He says "I was influenced to give negative answers when I should have answered in the affirmative, and as I have never received money any other way than rightfully, I return this. It was a liquor case, and an indictment was found, which should have looked very probable to all concerned at the outset; accordingly I was better satisfied than though it had been withheld."

FENIAN COFFEE is advertised in Portland.

—A new flax-mill is about being started at Woodstock, N. B., by Dr. Innis, who has distributed three hundred bushels of seed among the farmers of that vicinity.

—The Houlton Times quotes maple syrup at $1.50 per gallon.

FINED. Mr. Charles Bennett was lately fined in the Cumberland Court, for improperly flogging a pupil of his school. The citizens of Brunswick, many of whom had scholars in the school, promptly paid the fine and costs, showing that they were satisfied that the boy received his just deserts.

HIGH PRICE. W. H. Woodbury of Paris lately sold a gelding horse for $300.

A GOOD SELECTION. Walter Hatch has been appointed Superintendent of the Portland & Kennebec Railroad. We believe Mr. Hatch has been connected with the road ever since it was established. He is the right man in the right place.

An adroit thief stole a diamond pin worth $200 from A. K. Shurtleff, Esq. of this city, as he was leaving the cars in Boston on Thursday last. Mr. S. had previously noted something suspicious about two of his fellow travellers and marked them. He was therefore able to give so accurate a description of the scamps that the detectives had them very quick and the pin was recovered. Deputy Marshal Wentworth was in Boston at the time, and rendered valuable services in the case.—[Portland Star.

An Augusta paper gives a rumor that there is soon to be a Colored Convention there, to send delegates to Congress to represent the Territory of Georgia.—[Boston Post.

Better by far send a loyal colored man than a white rebel.

—Prentice says that "the portly majority that the Connecticut Radicals had a year ago is reduced to skin and bones."

True, but the crisis is passed and they will soon recover and be healthier than ever before. The Johnson fever, like the seven years' itch, is unpleasant but not dangerous.

—Mrs. Partington thinks the bills before Congress must be counterfeit or there would not be so much trouble to pass them.

—The American Missionary Association hopes and expects, during the present financial year, to realize the $50,000 recommended by the late National Council.

—The wife of Rev. E. Currie, one of the American missionaries at Alexandria, in Egypt, died March 3.

—The Deseret News says the matrimonial immorality of Christendom is shocking!

—It is said a new mine of plumbago has been opened near Sabattas mountain.

—Within the last twenty years, it is said that more than five hundred Roman Catholic women have gone from Europe to engage in female education in India and China.

—There are over five hundred large manufacturing establishments in Pittsburg and its suburbs. Among them are fifty glass factories, fifty-eight oil refineries, thirty-one rolling mills, forty-six iron foundries, and thirty-one machine shops.

—Thomas Carlyle, now seventy years of age, was on the 2d inst., installed Lord Rector of the University of Edinburgh.

—All who wish to get Swindled will find an abundance of opportunities by patronizing the Gift Enterprise concerns that are flooding the country with their circulars, offering great inducements for green horns to invest.

—A Jewish house, entire, has been excavated in Syria, dating two centuries before Christ. It is furnished after the Egyptian fashion, and parts of the Old Testament were found in some of its rooms.

—The statement is going the rounds that astronomers have discovered that the moon is drawing nearer to the earth, by about an inch every year. They have also discovered that the day is about one hundredth of a second longer now than it was two thousand years ago.—Well, vot of it.

—The total value of gold and silver bullion assayed by public and private assayers during the fiscal year 1855, amounted to $63,252,000, of which sum $56,000,000 was the value assayed in the Pacific States. Estimating the unassayed gold and silver in the Pacific States at about $5,000,000, the production of gold and silver in 1855 would amount to $64,000,000. The estimated production in 1863 was $48,000,000 an increase in two years of $13,000,000.

—The Great Falls News says that a family of five persons resided upon a farm in Derry, for a period of fifty-three years, during which time there was neither a birth, death or marriage in the family. Neither did they during that time put a letter into the post office, take one out, or take a newspaper.

—A Waterloo soldier, who was supposed to have fallen in the battle, has just appeared. It seems that he emigrated to America without waiting for the battle to be finished, and so he was marked as dead at the roll-call afterwards. His name stood for fifty years inscribed on the monument at Wiesbaden, among the heroes of that action, but has now been erased at his own request.

—Why is divinity the easiest of the three learned professions? Because it is easier to preach than to practice.

Mr. John Lee of Moultonborough, N. H., whose back was broken by the falling of a tree upon him over thirteen months ago, died last Thursday. The sufferings he has endured cannot be described by mortal pen. Unable to move but his arms, the part of his body below the break, was without feeling and decomposing slowly. It was surely a living death.—[Great Falls News.

A PALPABLE DISTINCTION. A Washington friend writes us the following bona fide incident:

"An appointee,—priding himself on being an F. F. V.,—in the Interior. Department at Washington, being ordered before the Board for the examination of clerks, the other day, was asked this question: Mr. ——, are you a gramarian? He answered—'No, sir; I am a Virginian'"!

EXCITING WAR INTELLIGENCE. The Eastport correspondent of a Provincial journal states that the Fenian attack on Campo Bello resulted in the flight of two resident fishwives from the island. The story is, no doubt, exaggerated, in order to create the impression that actual war is meant by Gen. Killian.—[N. Y. Times.

EXCELSIOR

HAIR RESTORER

IS THE BEST PREPARATION ever presented to the public for the Hair, and the only article possessing all the merits claimed for it.

IT MAKES HAIR GROW ON BALD HEADS.

Arrests its falling off or turning gray, cures all diseases of the scalp and makes harsh, wiry hair beautifully soft and luxuriantly glossy; but above all is the marvellous rapidity with which

GRAY HAIR IS RESTORED

To its original color. Use it a few times and lo! your gray hairs have disappeared as if by magic.

IT IS NOT A DYE,

But strikes at the roots of the hair, supplying them with new life and coloring matter. It is a much better dressing than Oil or Pomatum, and avoids their deleterious effects. It is elegantly perfumed, is easily applied, and is in all respects agreeable to the senses. If, after a fair trial, this does not prove to be the best preparation before the public for the hair, the money will be refunded.

Milton's Last Poem.

The following beautiful poem, is from the Oxford edition of Milton's Works, and as the work is rare, and the lines comparatively little known, we produce them:

I am old and blind!
Men point at me as smitten by God's frown,
Afflicted, and deserted by my mind:
Yet I am not cast down.

I am weak, yet dying,
I murmur not that I no longer see;
Poor, old, and helpless, I the more belong,
Father Supreme, to Thee.

Oh Merciful One!
When men are farthest, then Thou art most near;
When men pass coldly by—my weakness shun—
Thy chariot I hear!

Thy glorious face
Is leaning towards me, and its holy light
Shines in upon my lonely dwelling-place,
And there is no more night!

On my bended knee
I recognize Thy purpose clearly shown;
My vision Thou hast dimmed that I may see
Thyself—Thyself alone.

I have naught to fear.
This darkness is the shadow of Thy wing;
Beneath it I am almost sacred: here
Can come no evil thing.

Oh! I seem to stand
Trembling where feet of mortal never yet had been,
Wrapped in the radience of Thy sinless hand,
Which eye hath never seen.

Visions come and go;
Shapes of resplendent beauty round me throng;
From angels lips I seem to hear the flow
Of soft and holy song.

It is nothing now
When Heaven is opening on my sightless eyes—
When airs from Paradise refresh my brow—
That earth in darkness lies.

In a pure clime
My being fills with rapture, waves of thought
Roll in upon my spirit; strains sublime
Break over me unsought.

Give me now my lyre!
I feel the stirings of a god divine;
Within my bosom glows unearthly fire,
Yet by no skill of mine.

HOW PAPER COLLARS ARE MADE. At the end of the first room are piles of pure white paper, awaiting their turn to be guillotined in a machine furnished with twenty-two shear blades, which cut the paper into the requisite strips for the collar, on precisely the same principle as a gigantic pair of scissors, thus leaving no rough edge. The product of two paper mills is consumed in this factory, at the rate of a ton to a ton and a half per day, the average production being about 100,000 collars per day, which find a ready sale, despite the numerous imitations with which the market is flooded. From the hands of the attendant, who turns out the pure, even strips of paper, they pass into the hands of another hair executioner, who brings the incipient collar near its birth, by passing it through another pair of knives, by which it acquires shape in an instant. Still another machine marches relentlessly up and down, and as the collar leaves its iron embrace, the three button holes are visible—large, clean cut, firm holding, and easily handled.

The collar is placed between two dies or clamps, passed under a quick, heavy pressure, and emerges again, stamped with that close imitation of stitching which renders it so perfect an imitation of its linen brother, that the difference can hardly be distinguished; it is also stamped with the size and corporate mark. Next comes the crimping machine, which draws the curved line, on which the shape of the collar turns, and which by allowing space for the cravat, insures a smooth fit. They then pass through the nimble fingers of a damsel, who, with deft fingers flying with lightning-like rapidity, turns the collar over, as no machine has yet been able to do. From these hands it passes to the moulding machine, where it is bent round into perfect shape, and finished as a perfect collar.

This process is an important one, it requires skill in the operator and strength in the paper, which must be of the best, to resist the immense strain required to mould the collar into perfect shape.

The collar is now, as it were, born—shapely, trim and elegant, and ready to adorn the neck of the most fastidious, and having passed through seven distinct processes in its manufacture. It is once more taken into the hand of woman and packed into boxes by the 100, or in the well known little boxes of 10 each, which are so convenient to toss into a valise when off for a week in the country or elsewhere. For the item of boxes, the company expended over $600,000 per annum! The first machine turned out the collar entire, performed the whole work at once, but slowly and imperfectly; but the genius of the inventor, quickened by the rapidly increasing demand for the article, added improvement after improvement, by one machine after another, until the machine is capable of turning out 5,000,000 collars per month.

The American Model Collar Company employ in this manufactory 70 neat, intelligent looking American women, who earn $1 per day, and their work is clean, healthy and not very laborious. Mr. Gray who first commenced to manufacture in the Spring of 1863, has now 80 patents on machines and collars, having previously secured them in Europe. Three of the Directors of the company went there this Summer, with skilled mechanics and American machinery, to take measures to establish the manufacture in England, France and Belgium, where they will probably attain that popularity which the American model colar has achieved in this country.—[Exchange Paper.

DREAM OF THE BLIND. Milton, of course, having but just lost his sight, dreamed precisely as other men dream—the remembrance of the visible world being still with him bright and vivid as before. But into the vision of the blind boy no visible image from the outer world, no shape of beauty, no ghastly form of horror, can possibly come. Whatever comes to him by night—to him no darker than day—must come by touch or hearing. 'I dream,' said a blind boy, 'I often dream about people; I dream of my brother (also blind); I know he is with me, I hear his voice; I am in the places where we used to go before he died.' But how do you know that you are in a certain place?' 'The impression of the place is with me—I feel I am there; I am sure I am, sometimes, till I wake. Sometimes I dream that I am walking in the fields; I tread on the grass; I smell the fresh air.' 'If I dream,' said another young man, 'that I am in the great basket shop, I know I am there by the size of the room—the length of it.' But how can you judge as to the size or length of what you cannot see?' 'Oh, the sound tells me pretty well; I am in my old place, where I work.' 'You sit on your box, then?' 'Yes, I touch it, and if the dream goes on I get my tools out.'—[London Quarterly.

A DIOCESE OF ANCIENTS. In the year 1763, in the diocese of Aggorhus, in Norway, among other singularities were reckoned one hundred and fifty married couples who had lived together upwards of eighty years; seventy other married couples who had lived together ninety years and upwards, and who must have been all more than one hundred and five years of age, twelve marriages from one hundred to one hundred and five years standing so that the persons on an average were one hundred and seventeen years old; and another marriage of noless than one hundred and ten years standing. The couple must each have been noless than one hundred and twenty-four years old.

MUTTY'S
Friction Feed Roller,
FOR CIRCULAR SAWS.
PATENTED JANUARY 23d, 1866.

THIS INVENTION is applicable to all Circular Saws provided with stationary tables and used for re-sawing lumber.
It reduces the labor of sawing one half, and fifty per cent. more lumber can be sawed with, than without its use. It is applied without change of existing machinery; is not liable to get out of repair, and not expensive to apply.
It has been in practical use on the Penobscot river for one year, where the above facts have been fully and satisfactorily demonstrated, as is shown by the certificates of master millwrights, machinists, owners and operators of mills appended hereto.
The undersigned have for the past season witnessed the practical use of MUTTY'S FEED ROLLER in re-sawing lumber, and we cheerfully recommend it as a practical, economical, and labor-saving invention, destined to come into general use in all cases where lumber is re-sawed upon stationary tables. We are fully satisfied from our own observation that the saving effected, and extra amount cut, by its use, is fully as large as the estimate above given.

STATE OF MAINE.

OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE,
Augusta, March 1, 1866.

CIRCULAR.

THE Act of the 23d of February last, providing pensions for certain classes of disabled soldiers and the widows and minor children of those deceased of the War of 1861, will necessarily impose upon the State Department duties somewhat analogous to those of the Pension Bureau at Washington, though of a comparatively limited character. Considerable time will therefore be required by the Council, in whom is vested the supervision of this new department of business, in determining the mode of procedure and preparing the requisite blanks therefor.
Early in the ensuing May session of that Honorable body, forms and regulations, with a copy of the law, will be promulgated.

TAKE CARE OF YOUR LIFE!

PAT'D. Sept. 5, 1865.
A.—Metallic Sole.
B.—Outer Sole.
C.—Inner Sole.

SEELY'S
Patent Metallic Sole.
A NEW INVENTION.

WETTING THE FEET is the most prolific cause of disease and death known to humanity. It is almost sure to bring on a cold; and colds, neglected, and often when not neglected, lead to fevers or to coughs and fatal consumptions. It is in recognition of this truth that the inventive talent of the country has for years been devising some method, or attempting to devise it, for keeping the feet dry, and yet that should not give inconvenience to the wearer. Rubber shoes, in one form or another, have hitherto been our reliance; but it is well known, as among the many evils, that while they keep the feet dry from external moisture, they sweat them overmuch, and by thus inducing an undue tenderness increase a susceptibility to colds rather than otherwise.—They are also cumbersome to the feet, and withal are very expensive. The demand is for something that shall make the ordinary Boot and Shoe impervious to water, without effecting their elegance or durability, and, if possible, without adding sensibly to the cost of manufacture. These, it will be conceded, are most important features, and we conscientiously affirm that they are absolutely attained in the invention herewith presented to the public.
The invention consists in inserting between the inner and outer sole, when the boot is making, a thin METALIC PLATE, exceedingly ductile, combining flexibility with toughness, very light, and every way adapted to the end desired, while the additional expense is merely nominal. It furnishes a perfect barrier against the admission of wet or dampness, though the feet may be exposed ever so long upon wet pavements or damp ground.
To ladies and children the METALIC SOLES will be of incalculable value, as from their habits of life and delicacy of dress, they are particularly exposed to the long train of ills that attend upon an inadequate protection to the feet.
These Soles have already been tried by the best of all tests, ACTUAL USE, and the testimonials to their merits freely proffered, indicate that they must be speedily and universally adopted by the public. The Patent Metallic Soled Boots and Shoes are being introduced into the leading Boot and Shoe Stores throughout the United States, and will supplant all forms of overshoes, except possibly for deep mud and snow, as they become known. Be sure to get them and no other. If your shoemaker does not happen to have them, he can procure them without difficulty. If he will not, then send yourself to the inventor one dollar and thirty cents, and obtain six pair, assorted sizes, with right to use, press, pre-paid, and which can be made up by any shoemaker in the country. Agencies will be established in every city and village, and supplied with Soles and proprietary stamps, at schedule prices, and liberal commission allowed on sales. Also General Agencies for States appointed on application, with proper testimonials to the inventor.
Samuel J. Seely,
General Depot, corner City Hall Place and Read street, New York.

TESTIMONIALS.

The undersigned have for the past six months worn Boots and Shoes possessing Mr. Seely's METALLIC SOLE, and find them to be an effectual preventive against dampness, and the colds so often taken from damp feet, most gladly do we testify to the perfect efficiency of their service. The Metallic Sole is not only a grand contribution to the cause of general health, but a positive luxury, obviating all necessity of India Rubber shoes, except in muddy weather. All ordinary dampness, and even water upon pavements, is completely foiled of its power of harm by this most simple and useful invention. No one who has once used them will ever be without them again, as they increase the cost of boots and shoes by a sum which is scarcely worth naming, and insure, positively, dry feet, which is reckoned among the first conditions of health and comfort. We heartily commend the "Metallic Sole" to all the sensible.

Pastor Central Cong. Church, Brooklyn.
MARY A. FRENCH.
NEW YORK, Dec. 1865.

SAMUEL J. SEELY, Esq.:
Dear Sir—In reply to your inquiries regarding your Patent Metallic Sole, I take great pleasure in stating that I had them put in a pair of fine calf skin boots, which I wore the whole of last winter in the wet streets of Albany. I have had them half soled since, and am wearing your Metallic Soles now, with full intention never to be without them. I have not had a wet or damp foot during the whole time I have worn them. I pronounce them the best insole yet made. I am satisfied that no person having once worn them will do without them.—Wishing you the success you deserve for so valuable an invention for the preservation of health,
I remain truly yours,
SAMUEL JEFFERSON,
Contractor, New York.

MR. SAMUEL J. SEELY:
Dear Sir—I take great pleasure in offering my testimony to the usefulness and comfort of your patent Metallic Sole. I have used a pair of boots and feel no hesitation in saying that I have never worn shoes that combined so perfectly the desirable qualities of dryness and durability.
EMMA OVERTON, Brooklyn, New York.

S. J. SEELY, Esq.:
Dear Sir—In answer to your request, I am pleased to state that I have manufactured shoes containing your Metallic Sole by machinery. I think them a superior article for keeping the feet dry. In manufacturing them there is no trouble from cutting the thread when sewing, nor any difficulty in putting them in the shoe. Respectfully yours,
SEELEMAN PEARLBROOK,
Practical Shoe Manufacturer.
